Bio

Madison Morrison learned about the law and opportunities in the legal field at an early age. Her father, who works in law enforcement, often shared the many ways she could one day help her community and serve others. Armed with supreme research skills and an acute attention to detail, Madison is now able to provide superior support to clients throughout Alabama and the Southeast.

Before joining Huie in 2017, Madison worked as a Briefing Attorney for the Fourteenth Court of Appeals. She now concentrates her law practice on insurance coverage and defense, product liability, workers' compensation and employment law. In this role, Madison focuses on advising clients and developing unique, comprehensive litigation strategies for each matter. While in law school, she served as Managing Editor of the Alabama Law Review, the flagship legal journal in the state of Alabama.

When she isn't working, Madison enjoys traveling and cheering on the Crimson Tide with her husband, Lane.

A native Texan, Madison earned a BA in History and a BA in Political Science from Lamar University. She then earned her JD from The University of Alabama School of Law.
