Bio

From an early age, Andrew Edge was strategic in the choices he made, always keeping his true end goal of practicing as an attorney at the forefront of his thoughts and actions. Now a litigator, he works diligently to incorporate the same accountability and consideration into standing up for his clients. As a trusted advisor and a team player, Andrew prioritizes meeting the needs of others' by tapping into his strength of character. Humility, grit, courage and adaptability are a few of the traits instilled in Andrew by his parents years ago that continue to benefit him daily.

After working as a clerk in the firm's summer associate program for two years, Andrew joined Huie in September 2020 to begin practicing law. He now focuses his full-time practice in the areas of product liability, automotive litigation, nursing home litigation and general insurance defense. As a law student, Andrew was actively involved in numerous activities, including membership in the Black Law Students Association and serving as president of the Sports and Entertainment Law Society. Additionally, he was a member of the award-winning National Trial Competition team.

Away from work, Andrew enjoys playing basketball, watching college football, listening to podcasts, traveling and spending quality time with friends and family.

Andrew earned his BS in Economics from The University of Alabama and his JD from Cumberland School of Law at Samford University.
