Bio

Carly Atkisson has an energy that is contagious. To every facet of her life, she brings excitement, purpose and accountability. She is loyal not only to her family, friends, and co-workers, but also to her clients. Carly thrives on achieving goals and exceeding expectations in both her personal life and in the courtroom. She attributes her strong work ethic and commitment to deliver the best possible outcomes to her parents. Having worked in banking (dad) and the legal field (mom) for more than 30 years each, Carly grew up with excellent role models, and she now gets to continue her passion for advising, encouraging and helping others every day.

Since joining Huie in September 2022, Carly has focused her full-time practice in the areas of automotive litigation and product liability. She brings to this role academic excellence and leadership development skills from law school, and invaluable law clerk experience from reputable Birmingham law firms. Carly's dedication to her practice, coupled with her outgoing personality, serves the firm and our clients well both in and out of the courtroom.

Outside of the office, Carly enjoys spending quality time with loved ones, including Sunday dinners with her family (homecooked Italian meals) and supper club with her friends. She also enjoys traveling, running, and watching Alabama Crimson Tide sports.

Carly earned her BA in Criminal Law and Psychology from The University of Alabama and her JD from Cumberland School of Law at Samford University.
