Bio

Community is key for Caitlin Rittenhouse. Every stage of her life has been affected by supportive communities (e.g., family, friends, professors, colleagues, etc.), and she is now committed to establishing a community for her clients based on trust, respect and hard work. As a child, Caitlin saw her parents, both educators in a rural community, work tirelessly to impact change in their students' lives. In her role as practicing attorney, she is ready to take on the challenges of her clients and work diligently to impact them in meaningful ways.

Since joining Huie in October 2022, Caitlin has focused her full-time practice in the areas of medical malpractice defense, insurance coverage and defense, employment litigation, automotive litigation and product liability. For each case, she is strategic in her approach and steadfast in providing the best client representation. Caitlin's prior professional experience and law school leadership roles, including serving as Chief Justice of the Honor Court, will assist in researching solutions and securing the best possible outcome for her clients.

Outside of the office, Caitlin enjoys spending time with her husband, Tristan, and her family and friends. Additionally, she enjoys traveling, reading, cheering on the Crimson Tide, and participating in outdoor activities like kayaking.

Caitlin earned her BA in Criminal Justice from The University of Alabama and her JD from Cumberland School of Law at Samford University.
